

When color is a personal choice, you want color matching to be objective

Automatchic Digital Color Solution our latest innovation for color matching

Getting Color Right the first time, every time. This is at the heart of AkzoNobel's digital way of working. With the new Automatchic Digital Color package for our Sikkens and Lesonal customers, AkzoNobel sets the standard for reliable color matching. The key element in this package is the new Automatchic Vision; a hand-held spectrophotometer with the latest technology that is compact, easy to operate and requires minimal training. Automatchic increases business profitability by being a driver for process optimization, accuracy and speed. It strengthens a sustainable operation by using less paint, reducing waste and saving valuable time. The first choice for every job in your bodyshop.
